Using Data in Urban Planning

This course discusses the importance of the use of data in urban planning. It will also address data management, governance, and indicators and offer case studies.

The course is a portion of the full Urban Biodiversity Course(opens in a new tab) published by UrbanShift that can be accessed at this link (opens in a new tab).

Visit other websites in our broader digital ecosystem:

WORLD RESOURCES INSTITUTE | ROSS CENTER TheCityFix

https://thecityfixlearn.org/courses/using-data-in-urban-planning